BEACHES OF THE GREAT RESORT. Culver's beach road from Norton's Dock to West Brighton is now in perfect working order, and has already become a popular route to Coney Island. It gives a sail of forty-five minutes and a railway trip of only ten minutes along a bitherto untravelled part of the island. It did a good business yesterday and is likely to be the ruin of Norton & Murray's Pavilion at the West End. Nine-tenths of those Brighton direct. The greatest crowd was at the last named point. The route is the shortest and most pleasant one for New-Yorkers to the Prospect Park races, which begin to-day.

A new attraction at West Brighton is a mechanical cow from which milk is drawn at 5 cents a glass; but the animal is such a dirty-looking beast as to disgust instead of attract customers in quest of a temperate fluid.

The new pier is now nearly completed. Next week will give sufficient time to put the buildings in order for the reception of guests. The pier will be one of the most attractive spots at West Brighton as a promenade, but it is still a question whether or not boats will ever be able to land there even in the pleasantest weather.

The coldness of the weather at the beach still The coldness of the weather at the beach still keeps visitors in any great numbers away. At the Brighton and Manhattan Beach Hotels a single page of the registers sufficed to contain the names of the guests of a day. Yesterday afterneon both places looked deserted, and Engeman's Favilion at Brighton actually was. This place has been so surrounded with small and vurgar side-shows of indifferent character as to become rather repulsive. The worst feature about it is that it serves in some degree to affect the character of the Hotel Brighton itself, and give the latter the appearance of being the newsy place which it is not, and which it specially desires not to be. Mr. Engeman is building a race-course near his pavilion, and is shortly to have races, but as few owners of valuable horses will ever consent to stable or run their animals in such close proximity to the seashore and in the salty breezes which prevail there, it may be safely anticipated that the races will be of a cheap and spavined sort. The new music stand of such novel construction as to be something of an eyesore is nearly completed. Neundorff's Phiharmonic Band will not occupy it until July I.

At Manhattan Beach nearly everything is in a forward state of preparation, The new music stand, in the construction of which beauty has been largely sacrificed to supposed utility, will be occupied for the first time to-day by Gilmore's Band and Levy, the cornet player, who performs eight times a day and occupies the remainder of his time in going about grunting and complaining about the surroundings. The bathing-houses are now complete, and ready for warmer weather and any number of guests. The inclosure for bathers is keeps visitors in any great numbers away. At the the cornet player, who performs eight times a day and occupies the remainder of his time in going about grunting and complaining about the surroundings. The bathing-houses are now complete, and ready for warmer weather and any number of guests. The inclosure for bathers is now so complete that public bathing may be said to be reduced absolutely to exclusiveness. This bathing paython, the largest in the world, is in itself a curtosity worth a trip to Manhattan Beach to see. The captive balloon will not be ready for ascensions for a fortnight yet, Six hundred feet cast of the Grand Paytilion—the piente ground of Manhattan Beach—the London Pyrotechnic Company is building an inclosure 400 feet square, in which it is proposed to give, beginning July 4, a series of displays of fire works on a scale of magnificance unknown in America. This company, of which James Pain is the head, is the one which for many years has been giving the remarkable exhibitions of fire works at the Crystal and Alexandria Palaces at London. Many of the pieces to be displayed are 150 feet in length, and reproduce in various colored lights some of the most remarkable scenes of late years. Among others which Mr. Pain has brought over from the Alexandria Palace, are the "Marriage of the Princess Louise and the Marquis of Lorne," the "Debarkation of the Duke of Edinburgh at Gravesend," and several of the Hoyal Yacht Squadron regattas. Other designs, peculiarly American, and as patriotic as an Englishman can make them, are also in pieparation,

The new arrangements for transportation to Manhattan Beach are now nearly perfect. One can hay at any Elevated Railway station an excursion treket to the Beach, good both ways on the clevated roads, for 45 cents. Boats can be taken at almost-any minute from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. at West Twenty-second-st., Leroy-st., Pier 8 N. R., and Pier 1 E. R., for Bay Ridge, and thence by domble track road, in elegant open cars, to Manhattan Beach. The company has introduced a new feature this senson—the Woodruft palace car

A BRIDEGROOM MISSING. DISAPPEARANCE OF J. R. MILLER, OF READING,

PENN., ON THE DAY SET FOR HIS WEDDING. John R. Miller, a well-known hat manufacturer of Reading, Penn., who came to New-York on Monday of this week to transact some business with the firm of C. H. Tenney & Co., No. 537 Broadway, is missing under circumstances which lead his friends to fear that he has been murdered. He left home with the intention of returning prior to Thursday afternoon, when he was to have been married to Miss Neitz, daughter of the Rev. Mr. Neitz of that city. The wedding party had assembled at the appointed time but the bride-had assembled at the appointed time but the groom did not appear.

It was learned upon inquiry that Mr.
Miller had been seen by Mr. Tenney at Earle's Hotel on Monday, and again next day at the store in Broadway by Mr. Tenney and other persons connected with the establishment. On leaving the store on Tuesday afternoon Mr. Miller stated that he intended to start for home at once. Since then nothing has been seen of him. Mr. Miller stated that he intended to start for home at once. Since then nothing has been seen of him. He is said to have been a strictly temperate and upright person. He had with him a gold watch and about $40 when last seen. He had credit for $6,000 or $7,000 with Tenney & Co. He is of German descent, thirty-two years old, five feet eleven inches tall, weighs 170 pounds, has a dark complexion and wears only a mustache on his face.

PRIZE DEBATE BY COLLEGIANS.

The Kelly prize debate between the literary societies of the College of the City of New-York, at Lexington-ave, and Twenty-third-st., took place last evening. One of the proposed judges was late, and the audience showed its restiveness in ocessional outbursts of case thumping and the clapcasional outbursts of cane thumping and the clapping of hands. At length the president of the College, Alexander S. Webb, entered with William Wood, president of the Board of Education, and followed by Judge J. F. Daly, Charles Roberts, Ir., and Professors Droper, Newcomb, Morales and Raemer. They were heartily welcomed.

President Webb nuned Mr. Ferkins, Judge Daly now Mr. Roberts the judges who e ill render their decision on the merits of the debaters, on next Thursday, when the College Commescement occurs at the Academy of Music. The Kelly fund yields a first prize of $35 and a second prize of $25.

The auditors followed the discussion with close attention.

THE JURY IN THE HOPE CASE LOCKED UP. CLOSING ARGUMENTS ON BOTH SIDES-THE JUROES

UNABLE TO AGREE. Mr. Brooke resumed his address to the jury in the trial of John Hope for complicity in the Manhaitan Bank robbery, at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. He discussed Shevelin's evidence, and dwelt on the who went to Norton's Dock by the Rosedale and Sylvan Dell yesterday took the train for West complices. He contended that the effort to prove complices. He contended that the effort to prove an alibi had been successful. He said that the prosecution knew the persons who had committed the robbery, and that this proceeding against the prisoner was intended as "a whip" on his father, "Jimmy" Hope, in the expectation of securing a return of at least a portion of the stolen property. He concluded at recess, having spoken in all for five hours.

Assistant District-Attorney Russell reviewed the Assistant District-Attorney Russell reviewed the evidence, and asserted that an allbi was part of a burglar's regular kit of tools. He said that the witnesses had learned theroughly the Philadelphia portion of their story, and could stand any amount of cross-examination on it; but when he questioned them as to their doings since their arrival in this city they at once disagreed.

Judge Cowing then charged the jury, and gave the case to it at 4:30 p. m. At 10 o'clock a message was received from the jurors announcing their inability to agree upon a verdict. It was understood that ten were in favor of conviction and two for acquittal. The court was then adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning, and the jury was locked up for the night.

VIEWING SITES FOR THE WORLD'S FAIR. About one hundred delegates to the Werld's Fair Convention yesterday enjoyed an excursion about the harbor for the purpose of viewing from the water some of the proposed sites for the international exposition of 1883, The Hon. John H. Starin has placed the steamer bearing his name at the disposal of the delegates. Mr. Welch, of the St. Nicholas Hotel, allowed no one to go hungry or thirsty. The excursion was up the East River to Port Morris, thence back again and down the bay, through the narrows and returning, up the Hudson as far as Spuyten Duyvil Creek. The party left the boat at 5:30 p. m., at the foot of Cortlandt-st. During the trip down the bay an informal meeting was held, at which the thanks of the delegates were expressed to Mr. Starin, Mr. Welch and others who had contributed to the pleasure of the occasion.

IMPROVING A CONCERT GARDEN.

Messrs. Koster & Pial have finished the improvements at their garden in Twenty-third-st., and tonight will throw open the addition to the public. The improvements have answered expecta-tion as to increasing the ventilation of the main tion as to increasing the ventuation of the main building, and every evening during this week the temperature inside has been delightful. Four large arches, two of which are doorways and two windows, have been made between the old hall and the open garden adjoining. Egress to the new gar-den is convenient, and on pleasant evenings persons can sit in this inclosure, which has no cov-ering eyeshead.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Notice is given by the Lighthouse Board that on or about July 17, 1879. Lightship No. 40, now on the Pive Pathom Bank light-station, entrance of Delaware Bay, will be withdrawn for repairs. Relief light-ship No. 24 will temporarily occupy the station. This vessel is painted red, with the word: Relief: In large white letters on each side, and the number "24" on the stern. Hoop iron cage day marks, painted red, swing on each masthead. The lights to be exhibited will be the same as those now shown from No. 40. Special attention is called to the fact that Relief ship No. 21 is not provided with a steam for signal. During foggy weather, a bell will be rung and a fog horn sounded. Due notice will be given of the return of light-ship No. 40.
